

Bucks Countians See Eisenhower Inducted Into Office

Delegation Goes to Capital By Special Train To Inauguration

(Intelligencer-Courier Feature Service)

Many Bucks County citizens were on hand yesterday when President Eisenhower was inducted into this land's highest office. Forty persons from Bucks County were among the nearly 500 persons who were transported to the scene of the inaugural by a special train out of Bethlehem.

This Reading Railroad train left Bethlehem at five o'clock in the morning and reached Perkasie, the only stop, at five-thirty. There they entrained, mostly local Republicans, but also a few Democrats.

From Sellersville came William Steeley, the only Democratic county official that town has had in the past 20 years. He and his father, Jonas Steeley, of Perkasie, were numbered among the happy throng on the special train.

It was a ten-car train that carried this area's representatives to the inaugural. Doylestown was a mighty cloudy place at four o'clock yesterday morning.

The fog lifted near Dublin, but was in effect later on near Perkasie. And it was mighty dark and foggy much of the way to Washington. Daylight made its appearance soon after we left Philadelphia. But it was as very vague and hazy daylight.

The train stopped for about twenty minutes in Philadelphia, at the Baltimore and Ohio Station, 24th and Chestnut. Some were claimed it was to allow for a change in administrations. But the only thing changed there was the engine, which became a B and O one.

For those who had been unable to get breakfast before boarding the train, there was something to eat en route. A caterer had set up shop in a baggage car, located near the middle of the train.

Nearing Washington, they knew it wasn't going to rain. It was turning out to be a fine day, balmy and a bit hazy.

In the Union Station, the drum and bugle corps of the Fred A. Snyder Post, No. 553, of the American Legion, Northampton, briskly debarked in their uniforms and with their equipment.

They whipped into line and soon were leading a sizeable part of the train's contingent on a snappy march around the center of Washington. The corps realized they had no chance of appearing in the inaugural parade, so this was their only chance to put their talents on display.

A Bucks County group, led by Sanford W. Cunningham of Southampton and George Lynch, of Davisville, made its way to the office of Congressman Karl C. King, of Morrisville, on the third floor of the New House Office Building.

Once arrived in Washington, there was no set schedule for the many passengers from Bucks, Lehigh, Monroe, Carbon and Northampton Counties. They were free to pursue their own ways.

Many soon made their way to advantageous spots near the Capitol, so they could witness the inauguration. Among these were Mrs. Mary Howe, of Doylestown, and George Lynch. They happened to run into Governor Fine of Pennsylvania, who gave them two coveted tickets, enabling them to see the ceremony from a vantage point.

Some of the Bucks County contingent went to the Washington Hotel, where there was a headquarters occupied by Enoch Thomas, of Doylestown.

Bucks County Has Many Reasons To Have Friendly Interest in Congressman Representing Montgomery County; Is the New Head of the Labor Committee

(This is the fourth of a series of articles on key figures in Washington of special interest to Bucks Countians.)

By J. Paul Pedigo

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—Bucks county has many reasons to have a friendly interest in Montgomery County's Congressman, the Hon. Samuel K. McConnell, Jr., of Wynnewood.

To begin with, for many years Montgomery and Bucks counties were linked into a single Congressional district, and it has only been twenty years ago that the rapid growth of Montgomery county entitled it to a Congressman of its own, shifting Bucks over to partnership with Lehigh.

Moreover, Mr. McConnell has spoken in the county, and been well received here as an able, sincere and forceful exponent of Republican doctrines.

But the main reason for Bucks county's interest in Mr. McConnell has to do with his specialty in Congress, which is that of labor relations and labor legislation.

As a particularly active member of the Education and Labor Committee, at that time ranking sixth on the Republican side, Mr. McConnell had a great deal to do with the drafting of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Levittown Civic Group Discusses Many Subjects

Talk About Police, Boundary Changes, Street Lights and Bus Lines

By "Bob" Reinhardt Staff Reporter

EDGELEY, Jan. 21 — The Levittown Civic Association didn't make the movies last night, but at a well-attended meeting in the fire hall they discussed a number of subjects ranging from Levittown police to boundary changes, and from street lights to bus lines.

Julius Tennenbaum, directing a March of Time film of the Levittown community, explained that his plans to take shots of the Civic Association meeting were postponed by the unexpected poor lighting conditions in the hall. He said he had contacted his New York office after inspecting the building, but the extra camera lights needed were in use in other parts of the world.

In reporting the activities of the Health and Safety committee, Bernard Korson, chairman, said "Levittown has a unique problem with their police. We are trying to coordinate them. We are going to discuss the problem with police officials shortly."

He cited "illegal parking" of vendors, who he said leave their cars in the middle of the street when making calls in Levittown houses. "Tell the vendors not to park in the middle of the street," he said. "If they give you a smart answer, tell me about it."

Korson said he had made a study of fire protection in Levittown, and advised the Civic Association members, "If you have a fire, call the fire company in your own township or borough, regardless of which company is closer." He explained that the fire companies depend for their support on funds collected in their territory.

Mentioning that the street lights in the Falls twp. sector of Pine-wood and Lakeside are not oper-

Income Taxes Discussed For Bensalem Rotarians

ANDALUSIA, Jan. 21 — Income taxes were discussed last evening when Robert Caldwell, Jr., a partner in a certified public accountants firm, and head of the tax department of the firm, appeared as guest speaker at meeting of Bensalem Rotary Club here. Members assembled in King hall, where the Ladies Guild, Episcopal Church of the Redeemer, served a pork dinner.

Mr. Caldwell is also president of Penna. Institute of Certified Public Accountants, and lecturer of New York University's 11th annual Federal Tax Institute. He was introduced by A. Marilyn Meyer, Jr., secretary of Bensalem Club.

In his brief talk, Caldwell explained the tax form now in use, and answered questions concerning income taxes.

James Kyte, president, introduced guests who included: Rotarians John Norbeck and Otto Grupp, Jr., of Bristol Club; Rotarian John M. Young, Huntingdon Valley Club; Lawrence J. Klauder, Jr., an associate of the speaker; and Raymond S. Blach, Cheltenham.

Choral Group to Give Concert in February

LANGHORNE, Jan. 21—Delaware Valley Concert Society, directed by Milson T. Hughes, will present a choral concert in February in Langhorne Presbyterian Church.

The evening will provide a concert of musical entertainment including vocal solos, duets, and chorus selections. Mrs. Raymond Gross will be one of the starred soloists.

The society was organized last summer by Milson T. Hughes who felt that there was a need for a mixed chorus in this area. Fifty interested people met and their first debut was Dec. 5th when they sang at George School, Newtown.

Anyone interested in joining this group may contact Mr. Hughes or Mrs. Gross at Langhorne. The group can use more altos, tenors and basses. Rehearsals are held every Monday at eight p. m. in Langhorne Presbyterian Church.

Mill Street Merchants Hear Burgess Speak

Told That Nothing Stands In Way of Bristol's Progress

By Elma E. Haefner (Staff Reporter)

"There are no insurmountable obstacles standing in the way of Bristol's progress," Burgess J. Johnston Hetherington, Sr., told members of Mill Street Business Men's Association and their guests last evening. Members and their wives assembled for the annual dinner at Pennsbury Inn, Falls twp., at which the burgess was the principal speaker.

Optimistic and pessimistic notes were struck, but the bright side was given more stress than the darker one as officers and several members were offered the privilege of the floor by President Norman Vogel.

Steak dinners were served to 28. In presenting Burgess Hetherington, the vice-president of the association, Frank Proff, recalled the period 15 years ago "when Bristol and surrounding area was a small community." He added: "It has now grown into one of the greatest industrial areas in the east," then enumerated problems faced such as housing, parking facilities, water supply, etc. He urged that a friendly feeling and helpful attitude be shown to all entering the local stores.

Referring to the outset to "Bristol and This Delaware Valley of Ours," Burgess Hetherington based his talk in general on the situations faced in the area, and dealt in particular with problems which the businessmen share. He sounded a most optimistic note for Mill street in the future. "I know what Mill street looked like 20, 30 and 40 years ago. Stores were poorly lighted. There was no encouragement for anyone to expand and do any business. None of us realized what the potential was in this area." He referred to Bristol as the "hub" of the Delaware Valley.

Touching on the Delaware river he stated that the channel is to be deepened to the authorized 25 feet, adding that necessary bill has not been passed calling for the 40-foot depth. "When that happens Bristolians will have to take steps to protect themselves." The burgess reiterated remarks made by him recently that "We are in the center of things," reminding that "We are only three hours from the national and the state capitals; 20 minutes from the capital of New Jersey; 1½ hours from the shore; and two hours from the mountains."

"U. S. Steel did not pick this section by accident, but by design. It wanted to get into this great consuming area, and beside water." He spoke of the "parasite" plants

By Harmon Hicks (Staff Reporter)

By a vote of 162 to 2, with one obtaining from voting, residents of Levittown gathered at a mass meeting in the auditorium of Pennsylvania high school voted to go on record against the boundary change in Levittown "as it is now pending in the courts of Bucks county."

The boundary change to which they are opposed would place the Pinewood section, now largely in Falls township and partly in Tullytown, entirely in Bristol township. Lakeside would all be in Tullytown; part of Lakeside is now in Tullytown borough and part in Falls township. Stonybrook, now largely in Bristol township and partially in Tullytown, would be entirely in Bristol township.

Although L. Louis Rubin, Bristol attorney, advised the group that "the court will not consider any other petition until this (the petition requesting the above change) is disposed of, the five-man committee to study the boundary change advanced an idea for a change that they thought might prove satisfactory.

Lester Mayer, of 54 Post lane, publicity director of the committee under the chairmanship of Leonard M. Reynolds, Jr., and composed of Mayer, I. J. Hetherington, Jr., of 19 Leisure lane; John Thomas, of 20 Palm lane; Dean Robinson, of 43 Pebble lane, proposed the new plan.

Under this plan said Mayer, "there would be a single boundary right up the Levittown parkway (the Oxford Valley - Tullytown road). Falls township would occupy all of the section east of the Parkway; Bristol township would occupy all sections west of the Parkway, and Tullytown would withdraw to south of Route 13. Mayer indicated that the shopping center under this plan would probably remain in Tullytown borough.

Mayer gave the following reasons for this change:

That the Levittown Parkway represented a "straight natural boundary." That this change would leave the area as it should be in a "planned city." He said he was voicing his own personal opinion when he stated that "joint school boards are not satisfactory." Under the presently partitioned change Bristol township and Tullytown borough would operate jointly the school which Tullytown plans to build between the Pinewood and Lakeside sections.

"There is reason to believe that this plan would meet with the approval of Levitt," stated Mayer. He did not say what the reason was. "Falls township will be inclined to accept the education of the children and the administration of the school system," he stated. He said he had investigated this matter "on the surface."

The committee expressed its purpose as one of "bringing information to the residents." They said they were attempting to keep from going on the record one way or the other with respect to the change now pending in the court.

Dean Robinson, school chairman, made available to the assemblage printed programs of the courses of study in Bristol township and Falls township schools. Answers to questionnaires regarding the school system were read from letters received from William Conca, president of Tullytown school board, and from Medill Bair, superintendent of the Pennsylvania school district. No reply to the questionnaire sent to Walter Miller, superintendent of Bristol township schools, was read. Robinson stated he had received "no report from Bristol township."

I. J. Hetherington, Jr., compared the tax pictures in Falls and Bristol townships and Tullytown borough on the basis of 1952 millage rates. On the basis of 1952 figures, he said, the Levittown residents' tax amounted to $121 in Tullytown borough; $123 in Falls township; and $144 in Bristol township.

I. Louis Rubin told the group that the county court had asked him whether there was any objection to a continuance of the case. He said that he took it on his "own initiative to tell them there was no objection, for the following reasons: that it would give the people 'extra time' to gather information; that as long as the case was continued 'they can never change the boundary.' He said he therefore agreed that it should be continued 'for three or four weeks,' with the proviso that 'as soon as the committee is ready for a hearing the court will notify them of

MANNA FROM THE SEA

The news story stated it as a fact that "a young French scientist who staked his life on his belief he was right has proved his point." Dr. Alain Louis Bombard, it went on to explain, is at Barbados after sailing his raft 3,000 miles and living for 62 days on raw fish caught en route and plankton scooped up in a net.

He wanted to prove that a man can live on food taken from the sea—and the dispatch concluded that he has succeeded.

Maybe he has. Dr. Bombard apparently set out with his primitive craft so that no one could possibly doubt that he had maintained his existence with what he could get from the ocean. If he kept his health, he has at least demonstrated that a human being can exist in this way for 62 days.

That is not "indefinitely" but it is a long time. It appears the young Frenchman must have derived some sustenance from this manna of the sea.

Vilhjalmur Stefansson once spent several months in the Far North, living with Eskimos, and then reported that it is quite possible for anyone to live off that seemingly barren country. He called his book "The Friendly Arctic". It made a great impression at the time.

But a reporter who asked another explorer, Donald MacMillan, about it, got his reply: "Well, when you go you'd better take along a couple of ham sandwiches in your back pocket."

It is quite possible to publicize a theory and give it dramatic support by such an adventure as the one Dr. Bombard has just concluded. The voyage of the Kon-tiki is a spectacular case in point.

These experiments do one thing, though—they prove that man still has the brain and will and body to conquer nature even with the odds against him. The species that produces individuals like Dr. Bombard has plenty of the stuff of survival still in it.

Astronomers, the debunkers, now say the moon looks like rain-spattered mud instead of green cheese.

If Uncle Sam puts $100,000,000 in the England-Iran oil game, as he is reported to have offered to do, he will insist on dealing the cards unless he has gone off his rocker.

In Massachusetts a hen changed into a rooster. This thing will have to stop before it gets out of hand.

All gifts entering the Eisenhower home are X-rayed for booby traps, but only one has been discovered to date—Stalin's peace proposal.

News pictures from Florida and Southern California suggest that talk about gradual disappearance of the human leg from lack of use is hogwash.

ley Labor Relations Act which was the big issue in the spectacular special congressional election held in the Bucks-Lehigh District in 1947.

The work which Mr. McConnell and others did in writing that charter of union-membership rights was fully vindicated in the 1947 election, as it has been in every other election where the Taft-Hartley Act has been the chief issue.

For the past five years Congressman McConnell has followed closely the operations of the Taft-Hartley Law. He has reviewed all the innumerable attacks made upon it by labor agitators, and scrutinized also the successful use made of the law, most reluctantly, by President Truman.

This long, intimate study of the problems and potential remedies of labor friction has built Mr. McConnell into a position of being one of the outstanding experts on labor legislation in the country.

Now with the dropping from the picture of the five Republicans who outranked him on the committee, including the former chairman, Fred A. Hartley, Jr., of New Jersey, Mr. McConnell has risen to top seniority and will sit as chairman.

Coming as this does, at a period when labor unrest is widespread, when neither the CIO nor the AFL seems fully determined on its future policy and when a satisfactory solution to the menace of demoralizing strikes seems imperative for the future well-being of the country, the effect is to make Congressman McConnell one of the most important legislators in Washington.

Both the country and the Republican Party may make or break on the amount of success which Congressman McConnell has in establishing a sound and wise labor policy in the national government.

The fact is, of course, that the only period of relative labor peace known in the present generation was the Republican era during the mid-twenties. If you chart the number of days lost on strikes for thirty-five years (back to World War I), you will find that the line makes a law valley for that previous Republican period—and has soared to some mighty high mountain-peaks since!

Another Pennsylvanian whose importance in Congress rises steadily is the Hon. Leon H. Gavin, of Oil City, best known as "whip" of the Pennsylvania Republican delegation.

Mr. Gavin's special interest in Congressional matters is in the Armed Services Committee, a very large committee in which he now stands sixth. During the past few months Congressman Gavin made a tour of all foreign posts of the United States armed services, travelling 24,000 miles and visiting such places as Korea, Germany and Alaska.

His experiences and observations will have much bearing on the committee's policies as the major issue of whether to spend more or less on military activities comes up for decision.

Also on the Armed Services Committee is another Pennsylvania Republican, James E. VanZandt, of Altoona.

Tomorrow's article will be devoted to Bucks County's own Congressman, first the county has had in twenty years—the Hon. Karl C. King, of Morrisville.

Wilkes-Barre, head of the Pennsylvania Federation of Young Republican Clubs, and by Mrs. Peggy Lykell, vice-chairman of the group. They discovered that an adjoining room was tenanted by Wesley Roberts, recently chosen as chairman of the Republican National Committee. They also found places on the roof of the hotel, which gave them a good spot from which to watch the parade.

James Worthington, state superintendent of highways of Bucks County, and Freeman Kulp, of Ferndale, ran into several other Bucks Countians. These included Mr. and Mrs. Walter DeLashmutt, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Margerum and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hansen, all of Morrisville.

Pennsylvania was represented in the parade by the band of the Valley Forge Military Academy, the Beaver County Lincoln Club, formed back in 1880 and the Pennsylvania State Police.

Governor Fine and his two sons, and Harvey Taylor, chairman of the Republican State Committee, were in the section devoted to Pennsylvania.

Said Joseph Helfrich of the inauguration, "I'll never forget it and never regret it. It was my first inauguration."

None of the group stayed over in the evening for one or both of the two big inaugural balls—unless it was Edward Michael and Morris Owens, both of Northampton.

They were missing on the trip home. Both men work at the Hoff Hospital.

On the trip to and from Washington, a number of the passengers played cards. Some sang. Some cracked jokes, perhaps political ones.

The train actually reached Washington two minutes ahead of time, backing into Union Station at 9:28. On the return trip, the train left Washington on time, at eight o'clock, but reached Perkasie an hour and twenty minutes late.

The train was delayed by a train ahead of it. Some political punster said the delay must have been due to an "old, Democratic train, carrying old office holders to their homes."

Among those from Bucks County making the trip on the special train were: Frank Wesner, Wrightstown; Fred Reed, Doylestown; Marion Cunningham, Southampton; Harrison Moyer, Perkasie; Joseph Helfrich, Silverdale; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hedrick, Souderton; Freeman Kulp, Ferndale; E. M. Mengel, Perkasie; and Mr. and Mrs. Abram Wismer, Perkasie.

Also: Burgess and Mrs. Walter Herstine, Perkasie; Harold W. Weiss, Sellersville; Robert Fretz, Doylestown; Mrs. Mary Howe, Doylestown; Alvin F. Moyer, Chalfont; Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Cunningham, Southampton; Edwin T. Johnson, Newtown; George Lynch, Doylestown; Edwin High, New Hope; Walter Jackson, Fairless Hills; William E. Steeley, Sellersville; and Jonas Steeley, Perkasie.

Also Esther Peters, Davisville; Laura and Mary Stockburger, Mrs. Eleanor Stockburger, all of Southampton; Richard L. Wohlman, of Newtown; and John S. Vovnick, of Newtown.

James Hackett, of the Perkasie News-Herald, was along. He is chairman of the Bucks County Young Republican Club.

Civil Defense Skit Staged By Women at Langhorne

LANGHORNE, Jan. 21.—The staging of a civil defense skit, with many humorous angles, held the attention of members of American Legion Auxiliary in Jesse W. Soby Post home, here, Monday evening. Several members who have been taking a civil defense course, aided by some guests, participated in it.

Tentative plans were made for participation in a television program in Phila., Feb. 17th. Any member desiring tickets may contact Mrs. John Montgomery, president, or Mrs. Herbert Kniley, secretary.

Mrs. Roscoe L. Horner was named parliamentarian, she replacing the late Mrs. Reba Myers.

The stewardess, Mrs. Gilbert Bonnell, requested donations of cooking utensils for the kitchen.

Child welfare chairman, Mrs. William Kay, read note of thanks from Miss Lois Evans for gift sent to her; and also one from the "adopted" girl at Scotland School, expressing appreciation for a gift.

Mrs. John Ziegler, who was welcomed as a new member, told of a visit she had made to a filter center. Eight more members are needed to reach quota.

Mrs. Lawrence Arment, poppy chairman, informed of ordering 1500 poppies for sale at Memorial season, also 10 money containers to place in stores.

The rehabilitation chairman, Mrs. Ira Smith, stated that $224.60 worth of goods were provided by unit members for distribution at Christmas time. Perry Point Hospital officials asked for religious literature for patients.

An afghan, made by Mrs. Harry Force, Bristol, is to be sent to Valley Forge Hospital Phoenixville.

Mrs. James Tracy, Hulmeville, informed there are vacancies every day but Monday at the aircraft spotters center.

A small sum was voted to be donated toward the state president's dinner, which will take place in Phila. on April 20th. Date of April meeting will be changed to April 14th. The president, Mrs. Montgomery, will represent the unit at the dinner.

Coupon and child welfare chairmen are planning a money-raising event as funds are desired by April.

Mrs. Tracy, representing the Veterans Administration Hospital, Philadelphia, made a request for members to conduct a party at the hospital Feb. 2nd. Over 100 patients are listed there to date, four being from this area. Feb. 27th is open date for distribution of toilet articles and members will aid in this. It is suggested that each member donate an item at each meeting, so that a "back-log" may be established.

Mrs. Butler, Doylestown, sub-chairman of legislation, spoke "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The same was in the beginning with God. All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made. In him was life; and the life was the light of men. And the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not."

"He came unto his own, and his own received him not. But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name: which were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God. And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, (and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father,) full of grace and truth."

Levittown Civic Group

ing, he said "Sit down and write letters to the supervisors." He said to address the letters to John Melvin, secretary of the Falls twp. Board of Supervisors.

The committee also got a safety patrol organized for John Fitch School, he said, and conferred with state police on safety measures. He said stop signs have been erected at critical intersections in Bristol twp.'s part of Levittown, and Tullytown borough is now putting up signs.

Two motions were offered concerning the proposed change of municipal boundaries in Levittown, one that the group go on record as favoring the change, the other calling for a "hands off" policy. Both motions were defeated.

Philip Brown, of 64 Stonybrook dr., urging the Association to support the plan to readjust the boundary lines, said it "would make the work of the school boards easier, and let the children get to school without crossing roads. A similar stand was taken by Ulrich A. Frank, 61 Leisure lane, who said inclusion of Lakeside in Tullytown borough would bring to residents of that section a better financial situation, and lower taxes.

"And with public officials elected at large, Lakeside could control over the school boards and public offices," he said, pointing out that Lakeside residents outnumber the population of the old part of the borough.

"The Tullytown School Board has expressed willingness to build a big, modern school, he said "but they don't know where to put it. When the boundary lines are settled, Tullytown will make one of the most modern schools in the area."

Norvin Nathan, treasurer of the Association, opposed the motion supporting the proposed changes. "I know nothing about it," he said. "Legal action will not be affected by what we say here."

The election of new directors, by the executive committee, was announced by Duke Sloan, 313 Lakeside dr., vice president of the Association. They are:

Willowood — Dr. John McEwan, 160 Willowood dr., George Keton, 14 Wisteria lane and Ralph Howell, 23 White Spruce lane.

Greenbrook — Mitchell Milnick, 30 Garden lane; Leonard Sarner, 21 Gate lane and Joseph Hiltop, 18 Glenwood lane.

Magnolia Hill — Leo Kessler, 10 Minosa lane; Norm Heck, 10 Maple lane and Leo Lerdeman, 22 Maple lane.

Elderberry Pond — Harry Leaf, 38 Evergreen lane, two others to be elected.

A motion was made and adopted that the Civic Association support the Mothers March, Tuesday at 7 p. m. in the March of Dimes drive.

Reuben Wolk, of 10 Sunset lane, announced that the Levittown Players will present "George Washington Slept Here", Feb. 19 and 21 in Pennsylvania High School Auditorium.

A motion was adopted urging a committee to inquire where the Levittown shopping centers will be located, and when they will be built.

Ed Hough, 60 Lilac lane, secretary, announced the members of "Internal" and "external" committees, and their chairmen. He said all committees will welcome suggestions, and additional members.

Albert Kohli, chairman of the Activities Committee, presented letters to the winners of the Christmas Home Decorating Contest entitling them to prizes.

Hough warned drivers to "make plans for a full day, have all the forms filled out, and learn the book," when going to Doylestown to change their out-of-state operator's license for a Pennsylvania permit. Another man said he had found the procedure quicker in Phila.

A motion was made asking the Transportation Committee to make a map showing bus lines serving Levittown, and seek permission to display it in the Exhibition Center. Saul Morgenstein expressed satisfaction with the results of a telegram he sent to the president of the Bell Telephone Co. of Penna., asking that phone installations be expedited in Levittown.

Morgenstein said he was visited by William Houlden, district manager of the Jenkintown telephone office, who told him homes in Stonybrook and Lakeside should have telephones by Feb. 15, with installations to be completed in succeeding sections within four weeks of each others.

At the start of the session, the P. T. A. prayer was given by Miss Annie Heritage.

Mrs. John Paoletti presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Pasquale DiLorenzo, who is ill.

The annual pinocle party will be staged the night of February 17. Donations of cakes and pies are asked, as refreshments for this affair. At the March session a square dance will be in order, members and their families being invited to take part.

Mrs. John Johnson urged parents to back up the attempt on part of P. T. A. to have amusement tax removed from children's school activities. She spoke of need for protection at crossings near schools, and suggested that the mothers police the crossings if protection is not secured in any other manner.

Members of the Fathers Association were guests, and they invited the P. T. A. members to be guests at the Fathers February meeting. Mr. Hagley, of the high school faculty, will give readings.

The room prize was won by Mrs. Faust's kindergarten, Jefferson avenue. Refreshments were served.

IN THE LOCAL SPORTS FIELD

Bristol High Scores Third Straight Win; Morrisville Loses

Bristol High scored its third straight Lower Bucks County League victory last night as it thumped Morrisville High, 91-68, on the local court. It was the seventh win of the season for the Warriors against three defeats.

Bob Strobele, high scoring ace of the winners, scored 41 points in the win, falling three short of the individual scoring record set last Friday by Jack Bowe. In December, Strobele had broken the 1946-47 season record of Johnny Pindar by scoring 43 points against Lansdale. Pindar scored 42 points in a game against Langhorne in the 1946-47 season.

Last night's fracas was a well-played game until Bristol began to pull away from the Bulldogs in the second half. The Warriors got off to a fast start in the first session, racking up twelve points before Chuck Galambos scored the first Morrisville fielder after four minutes had elapsed. Of the 12 Bristol points, Strobele accounted for 10.

However, the fighting Bulldogs cut into the lead and melted it to 19-13 at the end of the quarter and at the start of the second period scored two more points to make it 19-15. Midway in the second session, Warren Thatcher scored twice to knot the score at 25-25. On a pass from Loud, Strobele scored to give Bristol the lead, 27-25. But Harvey Powell scored a double-decker and then converted a foul to put Morrisville in the lead, 28-27. This was the only time Morrisville led in the tilt. Loud tied it up with a foul and Strobele found the range for a field goal to give Ben Watson's boys the lead, 30-28.

It was Thatcher who again tied the count at 31 and after Strobele scored for Bristol, Thatcher put in a set shot to deadlock the score at 33. But Loud and Russ Johnson scored for the Warriors to give them a lead which was never relinquished but grew as the game progressed.

In addition to scoring his 41 points, Strobele was credited with taking sixteen rebounds off the boards. Jack Bowe and Howie Loud scored 18 points each for the winners with Powell and Galambos being high for Morrisville.

temple, to be constructed on a site Levitt will provide.

"We emphatically urge all Levittown residents of the Jewish faith to attend this meeting, because it will be the inception of a Temple," he said. The meeting place is not yet decided upon.

A religious survey showed that there are very few Orthodox Jews in Levittown, Morgenstein said. He said that members of the Conservative and Reformed denominations have indicated that whichever type temple is decided upon, the minority will support it.

The Jewish Brotherhood and Sisterhood each meet alternate weeks in Fallsington Public Library. The Brotherhood holds meetings the first and third Monday of each month, and the Sisterhood the second and fourth Monday.

Asta Leads High Jayvees To Defeat Morrisville

Led by Jack Asta, the Bristol High Jayvees chalked up another win by walloping the Morrisville Jayvees, 67-41, in the preliminary game on the local court last night. Asta scored 21 points in the Junior Warriors' win. He scored 13 points in the third period.

Bristol hopped off to an early lead as it hit for 13 field goals in the first quarter and ended with 28 points to Morrisville's 10.

the date. "I therefore took the responsibility of having the matter continued," he stated.

Rubin said that the basis of the objection to the change is that "the people really going to be affected have not had an opportunity to be heard."

In answer to a question by Ralph Blumenthal, of 52 Leisure lane (Falls township) Rubin stated that the change was "enough people in the township (in this case Falls township) to voice objections to the change because it doesn't suit their personal convenience."

Throughout the meeting Rubin stressed the importance of telling the court why the pending change would not suit the residents' personal convenience. And he cautioned that when the matter comes up for hearing in court "that's the time it counts most." He urged all persons to attend the hearing.

Howard Murphy of 155 Pinewood Drive, Falls township, said that he would attend the hearing and offered to take others in his car. He suggested a car-pool plan be formulated after the hearing date is set. A show of hands indicated that nearly all of the 165 present wished to attend.

Reynolds announced that circulars would be distributed as soon as the date of the hearing was known, or when another mass meeting was scheduled.

You can avoid shrinkage during washing on hand-knit scarves, sweaters and socks by pre-shrinking the yarn. Put the yarn on a plate in a vegetable steamer and steam thoroughly. When it dries the yarn will be just as soft and fluffy as before, but the finished knitting won't shrink.

Delhaas Puts On Spurt to Defeat Neshaminy High

Delhaas High put on a spurt in the last quarter to win over Neshaminy High, 59-51, yesterday on the Rohm & Haas court. It was the eighth win in nine starts for Coach Stanley Dick's team.

The winners scored 20 points in the last to overcome a lead which Neshaminy had from the outset. A pressing and fast-breaking game aided the Delhaas boys to triumph. Neshaminy had a half-time edge of 26-20 and this did not seem to drop until Jim Bustraan and Dick Smith found the range of the net in the final. Bustraan had 20 and Smith, 10 points, in the triumph. For Neshaminy, Al Hofmann garnered 23 points on 7 fielders and 9 fouls.

In the first game, the Neshaminy Jayvees won over Delhaas Jayvees, 52-48. Vennebush and Walsh contributed 32 points for Delhaas with Rothenbach making 21 points for the winners.

Mill Street Merchants

which will follow U. S. Steel Co., fabricators of all kinds who are expected in the area "to be near the product needed—steel." The chief executive of Bristol continued: "We have plenty of labor, and more will come in, and Bristol is going to benefit by this. I can't see how we can lose. . . I feel it is a question of merchandising."

He gave it as his opinion that there is no problem of competition as far as Levittown is concerned, then hinted at overhead figures which will no doubt be far greater in Levittown than in Bristol. At this juncture the burgess questioned "just how much help the Chamber of Commerce will be to Bristol now that 'Lower Bucks County' is included in the title of that organization." One suggestion offered by him to the merchants was to have signs erected at all entrances to the borough, reading: "Buy in Bristol—Save Money" or similar wording.

The speaker mentioned the changes which have been made in the borough zoning law, with the business section extended to Walnut street; also the possibilities for advancement along many business lines. Listing the several states he travels in on business, Mr. Hetherington said: "I don't know of any town of similar size having a shopping section comparable to ours in Bristol."

Other subjects touched on by the burgess were the proposed relief route into the borough parking lot, and equalization of assessments. Regarding the latter he commented: "I believe the industries and business houses are the 'goats'."

He stated he had been informed it is not within legal limits to employ an outside firm to make comparison and properly equalize assessments, "although such was done in Bucks county back in the thirties."

The oft-mentioned question of Levittown shopping center was given some consideration by the burgess who told the merchants "I have no fear of Levittown. The people are still going to 'shop' most of them have automobiles."

Summing up all the problems touched on, the burgess said to the members of the association: "I'm not at all afraid of the future. We have everything to gain by keeping our heads and fighting this through." He foresees things "all most solid from city line east, and out to the Lincoln highway." At this point he quoted:

"Twixt the optimist and the pessimist."

"The optimist sees the doughnut. The pessimist sees the hole."

"Cheer up," he urged. "Let's look at the bright side rather than the dark side. There are no insurmountable obstacles standing in the way of Bristol's progress."

A period following dinner was given over to discussion of the merchants' problems, and suggestions were made for advancements which will benefit their business and the borough as a whole. They were told by the burgess that a "more energetic approach to the problem is needed."

Mr. Vogel, prior to reading excerpts from the recent message of Burgess Hetherington to borough council, said "Bristol is fortunate in having Mr. Hetherington as burgess. He has been fighting our battles for us." The president reminded his fellow businessmen ("all you who pay taxes") that they must take an interest in local government. He continued: "You need the Mill St. Business Men's Association. With new business centers all over, it is to your advantage to be a part of it. The most successful men are those who are the most co-operative. Sooner or later the non-co-operative ones wither up and move to a back street. You who are here are the most co-operative and the most successful. Let's try to get more Mill street spirit. Nobody is going to solve our problems for us. There is no Santa Claus. If you want the parking lot fixed up, we're going to have to do it ourselves. . . The relief route, I feel, is a borough responsibility. I don't feel we should put a penny into it. But if you want something you have to work for it."

Joseph Borage, treasurer of the association, gave his report. He listed 57 retail establishments, and 18 other contributors. The work of Mrs. Joseph Ward, secretary of the association, was acknowledged.

Several other members of the association spoke briefly. Abe Popkin, after presenting the cause of a family which he felt needs help at present, found a volunteer from each Mill street block to contact others for donations.

Immediate past president, Charles Richman, stated his message was primarily for those members who do not attend sessions. Speaking of business on Mill street, he informed there were "more people at Christmas time than at any time in the history of Mill street. The same holds true for shoppers at all holiday periods during the past year. And people were there to buy." He stated that in asking borough officials for improvements, "it is not for the business men alone, but for the shoppers." Mr. Richman told the difficulty in securing funds from some business men to add to the parking lot improvements when such improvements were made. "It was a lucky thing we did increase the size of the parking lot."

He continued: "Our greatest enemies to Mill street are not our councilmen; our greatest enemies are to be found on Mill street—right in business. . . Too many absolutely refuse to donate any sums for the welfare of the street."

Mr. Richman censured the non-cooperative merchant. "The percentage you can depend on to co-operate is entirely too small. There are certain businesses (other than retail stores) which locate on Mill street because they want the 'traffic' of the street, yet they refuse to aid the street. . . The street must be of benefit to them. They are so 'ethical' they can't contribute. Your worst enemy is the businessman on your street who will not cooperate in your affairs."

H. Wesley Spencer paid tribute to the president, Mr. Vogel, members then expressing their appreciation of Vogel's active interest in rising.

Gene Nichols informed of a course in retail selling sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Nichols had also asked the blessing at the start of dinner.

"The merchants haven't risen to the challenge that faces Mill street and the borough," was the thought expressed by Leon Plavin. He mentioned the improvements made to many store fronts, but derided the fact that but few have enlarged their stores. "We are doing business in an era when people love to browse. More space is needed. Store front work alone is not sufficient."
